5. Dick Bissell telephoned to say that he thought they would be able 25X1 to come up with some positive recommendations next week concerning a merger of his Staff with the [] Division. With regard to the Aircraft Maintenance Support Division in the Office of Logistics he seemed to think that he and Jim Garrison were on the same wave length, i. e., Dick does not want to take on any more contracting business on his Staff and, in fact, said that, if he could, he would like to shift some of it back to the Office of Logistics. I must follow up on this with Jim. In connection with the merger it is reasonable to assume that this should be done at the Matomic Building; however, this would necessitate moving John O'Gara and his Staff and I must get after Jim again about the exploration of this matter.
With regard to space, Dick said that he would like to keep an Office in the Administration Building but saw no reason for Messrs. [] and Lampshire to remain there and could release most of the space he now had for other 25X1 purposes.

4. Dick Bissell has also advised me that when he takes over as the Deputy Director (Plans) he proposes to merge the [] Division with his own [] Staff. He thought that the logical place to do this would seem to be in the Matomic Building and by taking this action he could save some personnel. He also said that he wanted to take a look at the Aircraft Maintenance Support Division in the Office of Logistics and I told him that I had no objection to his doing this and would so inform Jim Garrison when he returned on Monday, 8 December. I also told him that it would be very difficult to find another place for John O'Gara and his staff but that I would have Jim look into this as soon as possible.

1. I met with the Director and Bob Macy at which time Macy explained that the Vice President had informed Jim Smith of ICA that he thought the United States Government ought to be doing more in the educational field and that we ought to be getting more credit for it. The Vice President's Latin American experiences were fresh on his mind. However, he is thinking about this on a world-wide basis. The Vice President indicated that for some time he had thought it was extremely important to bring foreign students to the United States. He now believes that it is more important for us to send American students to foreign countries to attend their universities, etc. He also feels that there are many places in foreign countries where universities and other educational institutions are controlled by an element not friendly to the United States and that the United States does not have any plans to organize the other side. This is where the Vice President thought CIA might fit in. He plans to discuss this with the Director at some future date, and the Director asked me to request the DD/P to prepare a summary for him as to what we are now doing in the educational field. Accordingly, I notified Dick Helms, Desmond Fitzgerald and Cord Meyer of the Director's meeting with Macy and specifically requested Desmond Fitzgerald to prepare the information which the Director had requested.
